Doug Hedrick is a successful businessman in Indianapolis. He's also a successful husband and proud father of 2 (so far). Most notably Doug is an Iraq war veteran, having served a full year in combat as an Army chaplain with duties in and around Baghdad. This courageous veteran is now stateside and ready to take on the athletic challenge of his life, the Chicago Marathon. Doug joined Team CureALS and signed on for his first marathon without hesitation stating "I'll do whatever it takes to raise money for ALS research. We have to find a cure." Team CureALS is proud to include a man who has made sacrifices for us all and again makes this selfless commitment to train for and run a 26 mile race. Please join Doug in supporting The Matt White CureALS Foundation. Your tax deductible donation will go toward finding a cure for ALS, and may provide just the motivation Doug needs to finish his first marathon.

Doug's fraternity brother Matt White is dying of ALS. ALS, also known as Lou Gehrig's disease, is a progressive neuromuscular disease in which motor neurons controlling movement of the voluntary muscles gradually cease functioning and die. The result is progressive weakness, muscular atrophy and, eventually, when respiratory muscles fail, death. At this time there is no known cause, cure, or treatment for ALS. The Matt White Cure ALS Foundation is a non-profit 501(c)(3) charity whose sole purpose is to raise money for distribution to the world's most promising ALS research centers. Matt's goal with The Foundation is to fund a cure and leave a legacy of hope for those who follow. His efforts to raise funds are absolutely necessary if there is to be a cure. Due to the rarity of ALS, very limited public or corporate funds are spent on ALS research. Any progress towards a cure must be made with the support of individual giving and private donations.

Yes! I will help Doug Hedrick raise money to find a cure for ALS.
